

October 2nd, 2019

FinCity.Tokyo

Tokyo Financial Forum in New York

FinCity.Tokyo will co-organize "Tokyo Financial Forum in New York" in Manhattan, New York City on October 23rd with the Tokyo Metropolitan Government.

The global economy and the environment surrounding the global financial centers today face unprecedented challenges such as US-China trade conflict, Brexit and unrest in Hong Kong. Against this backdrop, Governor of Tokyo Yuriko Koike, Chairman of FinCity.Tokyo Hiroshi Nakaso (Former Deputy Governor of Bank of Japan), Financial Services Agency of Japan, US based global investors, prominent analyst/economist etc will be sharing their perspectives as to why it makes sense for financial services to devote their attention to Tokyo and how Tokyo remains a magnet for growth in a world of increasing uncertainty.

Tokyo's vision for a global financial center which is gathering momentum in its implementation, the mobilization of Japan's gigantic household financial assets and the broad and deep pool of corporates which are attracting renewed interest from investors – This is your opportunity to learn first hand what Tokyo can offer. For attending, please refer to the attached leaflet and register your interest. (participation is free of charge and capacity is 150 on a first-come first-served basis)

Note : FinCity.Tokyo is a public-private organization with a mission of upgrading Tokyo as a global financial center established April 2019. Official website - <https://fincity.tokyo>

TOKYO FINANCIAL FORUM IN New York

Wed. Oct. 23, 2019 From 4pm to 7pm

Is Tokyo on the horizon for your next phase of expansion?

Join the Governor of Tokyo and the FinCity.Tokyo team for in-depth insights into Japan's financial markets and innovation capital.

Despite increasing uncertainty in the global economy, Japan's financial markets have remained resilient. Moreover, amid the rising profile of Environmental, Social and Governance (ESG) investing, the leadership of Japanese companies in this area is increasingly being recognized by global investors.

The vision for "Global Financial City: Tokyo" was set in November 2017 under the determined leadership of Governor Koike and the Tokyo Metropolitan Government. In response, global asset managers have steadily raised their presence in Tokyo. With its strong commitment to leading-edge technology and development of a flourishing innovation ecosystem, Tokyo provides exciting opportunities for FinTech startups as well as growth potential for existing players.

Come and learn firsthand why now is the time to capitalize on Tokyo's unique and growing momentum in the world of global finance!

Yuriko KOIKE
Governor of Tokyo

AGENDA

16:00 Opening Speech

Yuriko Koike, Governor of Tokyo

16:15 Keynote Speech

Hiroshi Nakaso,
Chairman of FinCity.Tokyo

Vision of Tokyo as a Leading Global Financial Hub

16:30 Keynote Speech

Yasumasa Tahara,
Director of Strategy Development Division
Financial Services Agency in Japan

On the Recent Development of Japanese
Financial Markets and JFSA's Policies

16:45 Keynote Speech

Jesper Koll,
Senior Adviser
WisdomTree Investments Inc.

The Power of Tokyonomics – Japan Investment Opportunities 2020 & Beyond

17:00 Panel Discussion

18:00 Networking

VENUE

Morgan Stanley Headquarters

1585 Broadway
Avenue
New York, NY 10036

REGISTRATION

If you wish to join the seminar, please reply to the following email address with 1. Name, 2. Job Title,

3. Organization, and 4. Email.

investtokyo@access2tokyo.com

With the support of

Consulate General of Japan in New York

● 在ニューヨーク日本国総領事館

Morgan Stanley

This event is organized by
Tokyo Metropolitan Government and FinCity.Tokyo

