Why Tokyo?

Tokyo's Financial and Economic Strength

Tokyo's world-leading economy

In 2021, the nominal GDP of Tokyo was the highest of any city in the world, reaching USD$2.055 trillion, ahead of New York and Los Angeles. This puts Tokyo on a par with the economies of Canada and Italy.

Message from The Chairman

Hiroshi Nakaso

The time has come to make Tokyo the global financial hub it deserves to be. Tokyo's unique strengths, including a world-leading quantity of personal financial assets, a highly-developed domestic corporate sector, and a reputation for stability, position it to become the key financial center of Asia. Moreover, recent legislative and corporate governance reforms are transforming the prospects for new financial sector entrants to thrive in Tokyo.
